

OUR MEN ON THE
LORRAINE FRONT

NEW YORK, SUNDAY, MARCH 10, 1918.

Copyright, 1918, by the Sun Printing and Publishing Association.

FACE TO FACE WITH THE FOE AT LAST

Model
of monument
to be erected by people of Lorraine
to first American soldiers killed.
Copyright,
International Film.

American soldier on the first line ready
to fire rocket signalling that German attack is about to begin.

Copyright, Committee
on Public Information

Americans in first line trench ready
for anything that comes. These men
took part in the recent fighting.

Copyright, Committee
on Public Information.

In oval—The final honors to Corporal J. B. Gresham, Private Thomas F. Enright and Private Merle D. Hay, killed in France. Gen. Bordeaux represented the French army at the impressive burial services.

Copyright, Committee on Public Information.

In circle—A wounded American soldier, injured in a German raid, at the field hospital, receiving the attention of skilled surgeons. Later he will be sent to the base hospital.

Copyright, Committee on Public Information.

The Rainbow Division, containing crack New York National Guard regiments, is "over there" and glad of it. It landed in France unannounced, but got a great reception. Here we see American bandmen tuning up just after they got ashore.

Copyright, Committee on Public Information.

American gunners and a French "75" gun just behind the trenches and ready to support their comrades of the infantry if the Huns start anything. The battery is well camouflaged and the men have done some excellent work in laying down barrage fire.

Copyright, Committee on Public Information.